

Meet ORHC Respiratory Therapist

Mindi McCain

Mindi McCain has been a Registered Respiratory Therapist here at ORHC for ten months. Before working at ORHC, she spent time working with Durable Medical Equipment.

A typical day for Mindi involves giving a daily report, giving nebulizer treatment, reviewing all hospitalized patients' needs for oxygen, maintaining vent settings, responding to all codes and rapid response, and doing EKG's. Patients of all ages are cared for by ORHC's respiratory team. Time management is important for Mindi's job. "Sometimes there are two different situations that are occurring, and I have to assess where I need to go first, and delegate when I can't do it all on my own," Mindi shared. "I enjoy my job because of the people. I love the physicians and nurses I get to work with, but I love the patients the most."

Mindi is frequently mentioned by her patients and her peers as a kind and caring person who approaches her role with pride and a positive attitude. "I try to give them a personal experience, not just a hospital experience."

Respiratory Director Deb McLeland said, "Mindi, is a positive, patient focused therapist who always gives 110%! She is recognized as a valuable team member by all of her peers. She is a knowledgeable, positive therapist who is first and foremost a patient advocate. Her impact on the quality of care given here at ORHC is invaluable."

The respiratory therapists greatly impact ORHC in many ways. ORHC wouldn't be able to keep patients who require complex respiratory interventions without respiratory therapists like Mindi with specialized training in ventilator care.

Mindi constantly is re-reading books from school and attending respiratory conferences to refresh her knowledge. Thank you Mindi for your dedication to ensuring our patients receive personal quality care.
